

- Expectations, sexism and misogyny
- Disclosures of domestic abuse from migrant victims
- Working with families with spiritual beliefs
- Supporting sexual violence services to reach women from minoritised communities
- FGM
- Labia pulling/stretching (run in partnership with Project Salama)
- ‘Honour’-based abuse (HBA) and forced marriage
- Online imagery
- Modern slavery (run in partnership with ASIOX)
- ‘Honour’-based abuse & coercive control

“Sundial Centre were very engaging, and listened to our needs as an organisation to deliver a ‘bespoke’ presentation to us...All trainers were absolutely knowledgeable in their field, and delivered the training with a relaxed, approachable manner. We would thoroughly recommend this training to other police services, and agencies who may come across Honour Based Abuse.”

Metropolitan Police

Community and youth groups

All our material is highly sensitive, designed to support learning on abuse issues and prevent harm, without challenging community family values.

- Consent
- Cousin marriage and genetic conditions
- Sexual violence
- Arts projects tackling harmful practices
- Healthy relationships
- Identity and family roles
- Gender dynamics and roles
- Working with people seeking asylum

For more information: www.sundialcentre.org

Contact us now to book your workshops:
bookings@sundialcentre.org

Registered charity number: 1161597

A guide to what we offer:
trainings, lessons and workshops

Sundial is a rights-based charity dedicated to ending harmful practices and abuse issues suffered by children and women living in the UK, primarily the Midlands and South of the UK.

Our mission is to end harmful practices and abuse affecting children and women by:

- Providing education for schools, communities and professionals
- Supporting frontline domestic abuse services with technical expertise
- Supporting victim-survivors with information
- Empowering young people to champion initiatives against harmful practices through the arts
- Carrying out research with practical value

Many of our workshops are provided free of charge to state schools and groups without budgets.

All our workshops are delivered with facilitators from affected communities and this makes learning very powerful.

Schools

We deliver sensitive, age appropriate lessons for students at all levels, including ESOL.

Lessons for primary schools

- Who can you tell?
Staying safe from sexual harm - Years 2 and 3
- What is culture?
Culture, FGM and human rights - Year 6

Lessons for secondary schools

- FGM - Year 7 and upwards
- Marriage & consent - Years 7 and 8
- Body image & social media Year 7 and upwards
- Forced marriage - Year 9 and upwards
- The influence of pornography
Year 9 and upwards
- Dating violence - Year 9 and upwards
- Expectations, sexism & misogyny
Year 9 and upwards
- Spiritual & faith-based abuse
Year 10 and upwards
- The female genitalia - Year 11 and upwards
- Body image & smart phones
Workshop series/sixth form/college level

We also offer arts projects to support learning on harmful practices.

Safeguarding for school staff

We recommend your whole staff team participates in our specialist safeguarding training before these subjects are tackled in the classroom, in case there are disclosures of harm.

- FGM
- 'Honour'-based abuse (HBA) and forced marriage
- Online harms
- Spiritual abuse
- Expectations, sexism and misogyny

"Thank you for today's sessions. The students have fed back saying it was engaging and delivered well, I believe this has opened some of our young people's eyes and... empowered them. I hope it has educated them to reach out for help and support if ever needed."

Professional safeguarding

We deliver specialist training for professionals working with victim-survivors of domestic abuse from ethnically diverse communities.

Our technical domestic abuse training is delivered with specialists who have frontline experience working in the domestic abuse sector. We work with a wide range of professionals, including domestic abuse workers, police officers, social workers and company employees.

- Transnational marriage abandonment
- Intersectionality, protected characteristics and working with diverse groups
- No recourse to public funds (NRPF) and domestic abuse
- 'Honour'-based abuse, dowry and bride price